About the Course

Many students encounter difficulty going from high school math to college-level mathematics. Even though they do well in high school but many of them leave mathematics for some other subject due to lack of mathematical thinking.

In this course, learn how to think the way mathematicians do. Mathematical thinking is not the same as doing mathematics – at least not as mathematics is typically presented in our school system. School math typically focuses on learning procedures to solve highly stereotyped problems. Professional mathematicians think a certain way to solve real problems, problems that can arise from the everyday world, or from science, or from within mathematics itself. The key to success in school math is to learn to think inside-the-box. In contrast, a key feature of mathematical thinking is thinking outside-the-box- a valuable ability in today's world. This course helps to develop that crucial way of thinking.

Course Learning Outcomes

After completing the course, the student will be able to understand

- The formalized language used in Mathematics.
- Analysis of Mathematical statements.
- How to proof Mathematical statements using different methods.
- What are logical combinators, implications and quantifiers and how to effectively use them in Mathematical statements.
- Fundamentals of Real Analysis, Number Theory and Mathematical logic.

Syllabus

UNIT 1 WHAT IS MATHEMATICS
1.1 More than arithmetic	1.5 Hours
1.2 Mathematical notation	1.5 Hours
1.3 Modern College-Level Mathematics	2 Hours
1.4 Why do you have to learn mathematical thinking	1.5 Hours

Add on course in Disaster Management (ADM)

Course Objective:

1. The course has been prepared with a goal to provide a general concept on natural disasters caused by nature beyond human control as well as the disaster management emphasizing Preparedness, Response, Rehabilitation and Recovery, and Application of GIS in it.
2. Looking at the intensity and frequency of natural disasters especially in Odishan context, the add-on course on disaster management is innovative, skill and employment oriented to attract students from different branches of science and humanities

Learning Outcome:

After the completion of the course, students developed more understanding about the different disasters and how we can deal with these kind of disasters.

Syllabus

Unit-1

Disasters-Definition and concepts, Hazard, Risk, Vulnerability, Disaster, types of disasters, Meaning, Nature, Importance, Dimensions and Scope of Disaster Management; Hydrological Disasters - Flood, Flash flood, Drought, cloud burst; Geological Disasters- Earthquakes, Tsunamis, Landslides, Avalanches, Volcanic eruptions, Mud flow; Wind related- Cyclone, Storm, Storm surge, Tidal waves, Heat and cold Waves, Climatic Change, Global warming, Sea Level rise.

Unit-2

Principles and Practices in Disaster management, concepts of Disaster management, Pre-and post-disaster management, Real time management, rehabilitation and long term disaster management Prediction system, warning system, preparedness, evacuation, Rescue and relief operation, rehabilitation and reconstruction, community disaster management, resilience.

Unit-3

Definition of GIS, Concept of Space and Time, Spatial data, Map Projection and Datum, GIS Functionalities for end user / system (Data Acquisition, Data Input, Data Management, Data Analysis, Data Modeling and Data Output); Remote Sensing Application in Disaster Management, Communication System, Wireless Communication, Bluetooth Wireless Technology, HAM Radio, GPS Application in Emergency Communication.

Add on course in Disaster Management (ADM)

Course Objective:

1. The course has been prepared with a goal to provide a general concept on natural disasters caused by nature beyond human control as well as the disaster management emphasizing Preparedness, Response, Rehabilitation and Recovery, and Application of GIS in it.
2. Looking at the intensity and frequency of natural disasters especially in Odishan context, the add-on course on disaster management is innovative, skill and employment oriented to attract students from different branches of science and humanities

Learning Outcome:

After the completion of the course, students developed more understanding about the different disasters and how we can deal with these kind of disasters.

Syllabus

Unit-1

Disasters-Definition and concepts, Hazard, Risk, Vulnerability, Disaster, types of disasters, Meaning, Nature, Importance, Dimensions and Scope of Disaster Management; Hydrological Disasters - Flood, Flash flood, Drought, cloud burst; Geological Disasters- Earthquakes, Tsunamis, Landslides, Avalanches, Volcanic eruptions, Mud flow; Wind related- Cyclone, Storm, Storm surge, Tidal waves, Heat and cold Waves, Climatic Change, Global warming, Sea Level rise.

Unit-2

Principles and Practices in Disaster management, concepts of Disaster management, Pre-and post-disaster management, Real time management, rehabilitation and long term disaster management Prediction system, warning system, preparedness, evacuation, Rescue and relief operation, rehabilitation and reconstruction, community disaster management, resilience.

Unit-3

Definition of GIS, Concept of Space and Time, Spatial data, Map Projection and Datum, GIS Functionalities for end user / system (Data Acquisition, Data Input, Data Management, Data Analysis, Data Modeling and Data Output); Remote Sensing Application in Disaster Management, Communication System, Wireless Communication, Bluetooth Wireless Technology, HAM Radio, GPS Application in Emergency Communication.

About the Course

Many students encounter difficulty going from high school math to college-level mathematics. Even though they do well in high school but many of them leave mathematics for some other subject due to lack of mathematical thinking.

In this course, learn how to think the way mathematicians do. Mathematical thinking is not the same as doing mathematics – at least not as mathematics is typically presented in our school system. School math typically focuses on learning procedures to solve highly stereotyped problems. Professional mathematicians think a certain way to solve real problems, problems that can arise from the everyday world, or from science, or from within mathematics itself. The key to success in school math is to learn to think inside-the-box. In contrast, a key feature of mathematical thinking is thinking outside-the-box- a valuable ability in today's world. This course helps to develop that crucial way of thinking.

Course Learning Outcomes

After completing the course, the student will be able to understand

- The formalized language used in Mathematics.
- Analysis of Mathematical statements.
- How to proof Mathematical statements using different methods.
- What are logical combinators, implications and quantifiers and how to effectively use them in Mathematical statements.
- Fundamentals of Real Analysis, Number Theory and Mathematical logic.

Syllabus
